

Rahab's Leadership Blueprint for Ambitious Women With a Past

FREE STUDY GUIDE

Hey sis, welcome to your House of Women FREE study guide! Whether you're journaling, studying with friends, or sipping tea and soaking this in solo, this guide will help you unpack Rahab's story and claim your place as the powerful, positioned woman God called you to be.

1. Rahab's Story

Rahab was a sex worker in Jericho. But more than that, she was a strategist, protector, negotiator, and woman of faith. When Israelite spies showed up, she hid them, risked everything, made a bold ask for her family's safety, and ended up being written into the family tree of Jesus (Matthew 1:5). She went from the red-light district to royal lineage. Period.

2. Key Gems from Rahab's Blueprint

- You can be scandalous and still significant.
- Bold faith doesn't wait for a cleaned-up past.
- Leadership is about risk, not perfection.
- You don't need applause to walk in purpose.
- Redemption is louder than rumors.

3. God's Receipts

- Joshua 2:1–14 – Rahab hides the spies + negotiates protection.
- Joshua 6:22–25 – Her house is saved.
- Matthew 1:5 – She's in the lineage of Jesus.

4. Time to Get Real

1. Where have you felt dismissed, and how might God be using that space to develop your influence?
2. What rules or traditions are you being called to break in order to do what's right?
3. What bold ask is God nudging you to make—for yourself or your family?

5. Word Study Highlights

שֵׁם (shem) – Name, reputation, renown
Revelation: Your name still carries weight, even when they drag it.
Takeaway: Walk in rooms like heaven already whispered your name there.

צֶדֶק (tzedek) – Justice, righteousness
Revelation: God honors right over rules.
Takeaway: Sometimes righteousness requires rebellion.

6. Sincerely, Talk to God

God, thank You for seeing past my past. Remind me that I am still worthy, still chosen, and still called to lead—even in progress. Let Rahab's courage stir up my own.

7. Let It All Out, Sister

What is the part of your story you've been hiding, ashamed of, or afraid people will judge? What if that is the exact place God wants to use as your platform of power?

8. Speak Life, Queen

1. My past does not disqualify me—God uses it as proof of His power.
2. I am a leader, even while healing.
3. I walk boldly because God calls me chosen.

Be set free to be like Rahab,

Pastor Kim
